FUNDED PHD STUDENTSHIP

The Open University and the Museum of the Home are pleased to announce the availability of a fully funded Collaborative doctoral studentship October 2024 under the AHRC's Collaborative Doctoral Partnerships (CDP) scheme.

The proposed research studentship addresses the relationship between un/making of home and multigenerational family living in 21st century East London.

This project will be jointly supervised by Dr Manik Gopinath, The Open University and Ms Danielle Patten, Museum of the Home. The student will be expected to spend time at both The Open University and the Museum of the Home, as well as becoming part of the wider cohort of CDP funded students across the UK.

WRAPPING UP PROBIN INTERVIEWS

The ABAJ community Co-researchers have worked incredibly hard to complete 72 of the 80 Probin interviews before the start of Ramadan. The Subco Trust in Newham and Sonali gardens in Tower Hamlets have been instrumental in arranging interviews with their service users at the centres. The community of transcribers have also been diligently transcribing the interviews and 34 interview transcriptions have been completed.

The ABAJ team are anonymising the transcripts and introduced the process of analysis, using some of the anonymised transcripts, with the BRAG members at the 5th BRAG meeting on 2nd March 2024.

UPCOMING PRESENTATIONS

Dunhill capability programme took place on 6th March where Bashir and Manik highlighted the benefits and challenges of partnership work with academics and voluntary organisations.

Dunhill Annual Symposium to be held on 16th April

Manik and Mahera will be presenting to Dunhill PhD students on 28th April

The OU team have submitted an abstract, which has been accepted, for the British Society of Gerontology Annual Conference to be held at Newcastle University from 3 - 5th July.

We warmly invite participation from BRAG members. If you're interested, please feel free to reach out to Mahera.
