

PRP

Intergenerational Living: Building Blocks for All Ages

Jenny Buterchi, Partner

Later Living Design at PRP

West Byfleet

New Lodge, New Earswick

Manor Gardens, Gloucester

Freemans Quay, Wichelstowe

Limelight, Old Trafford

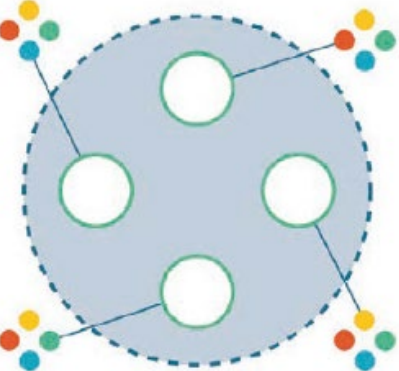

Bayton Court, London

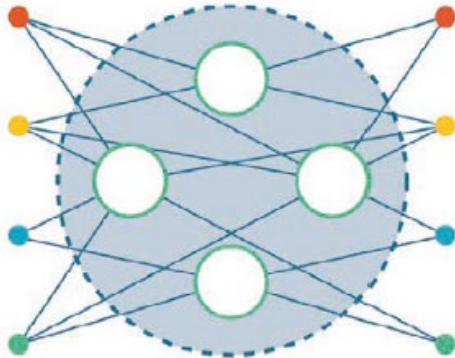

Intergenerational Housing Approaches

Homes should reflect the needs of modern households which come in varied forms

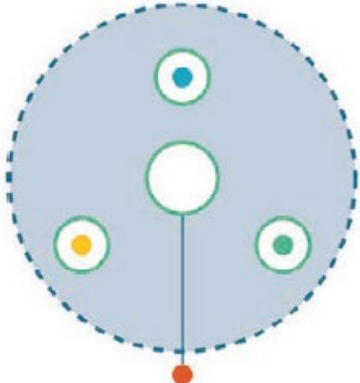

Multi-generational homes

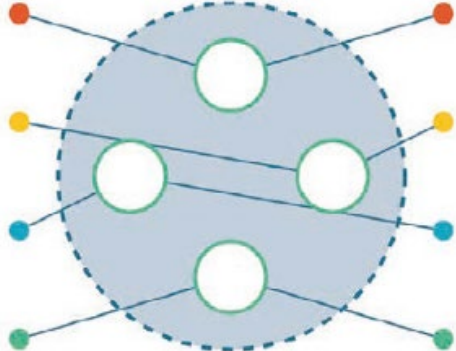

Co-living

Later Living at the heart of the community

Intergenerational masterplans

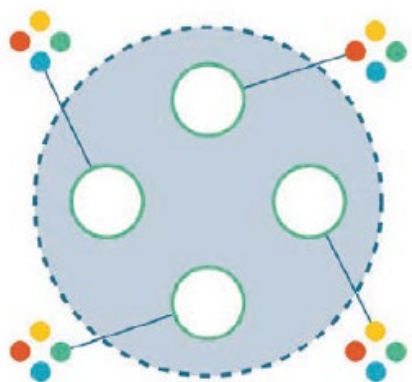

- Development
- Dwelling
- User Groups

user groups

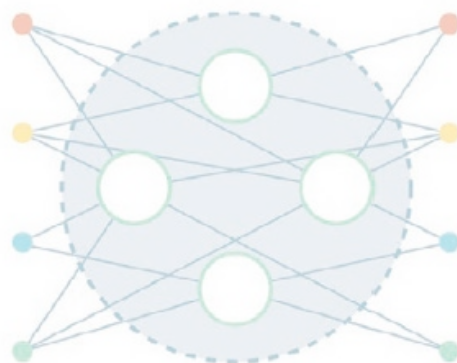

Young Professionals & Couples Disabled People Families Older People Students

Multi-generational living

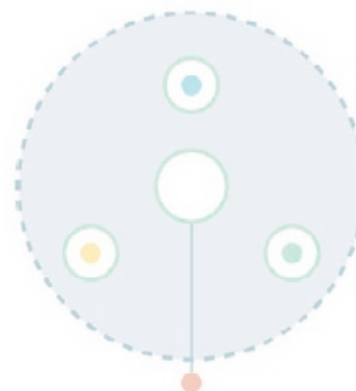

Multi-generational homes

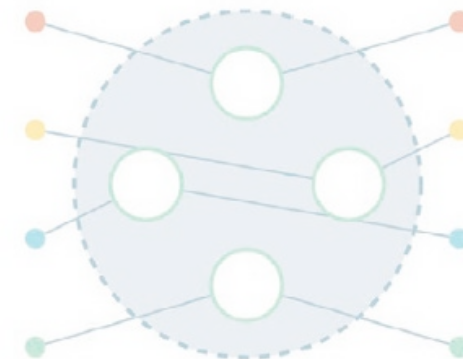

Co-living

Later Living at the heart of the community

Intergenerational masterplans

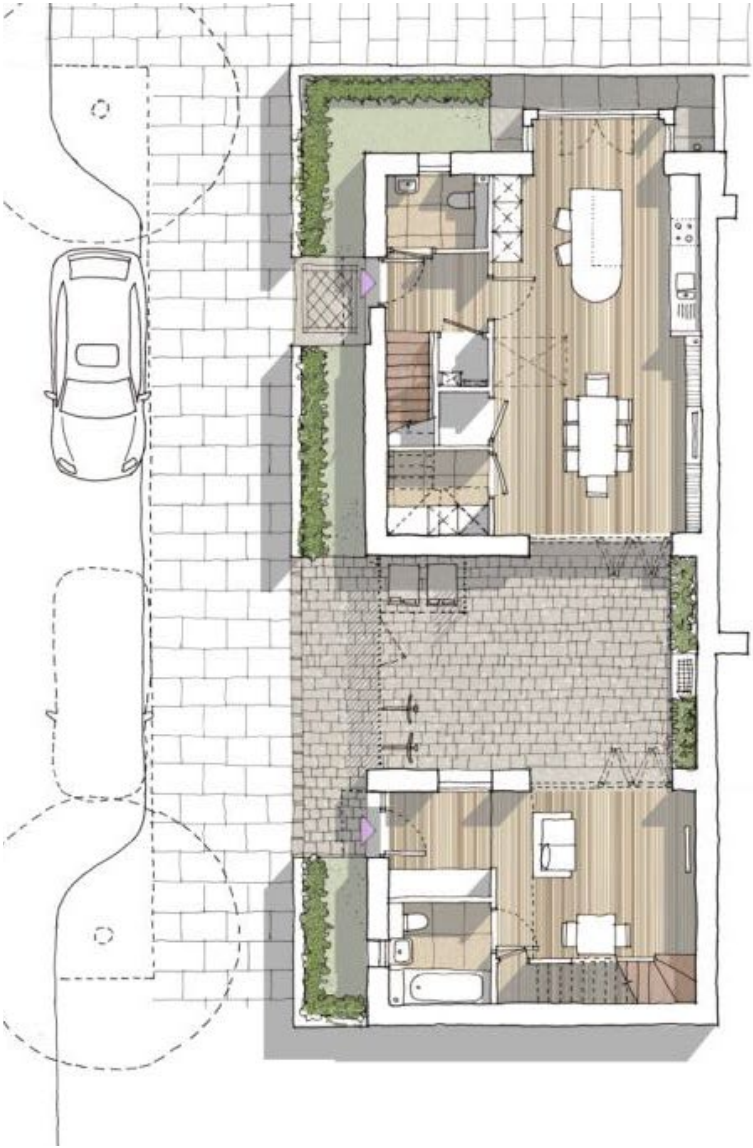

Multi-generational living

Chobham Manor, London

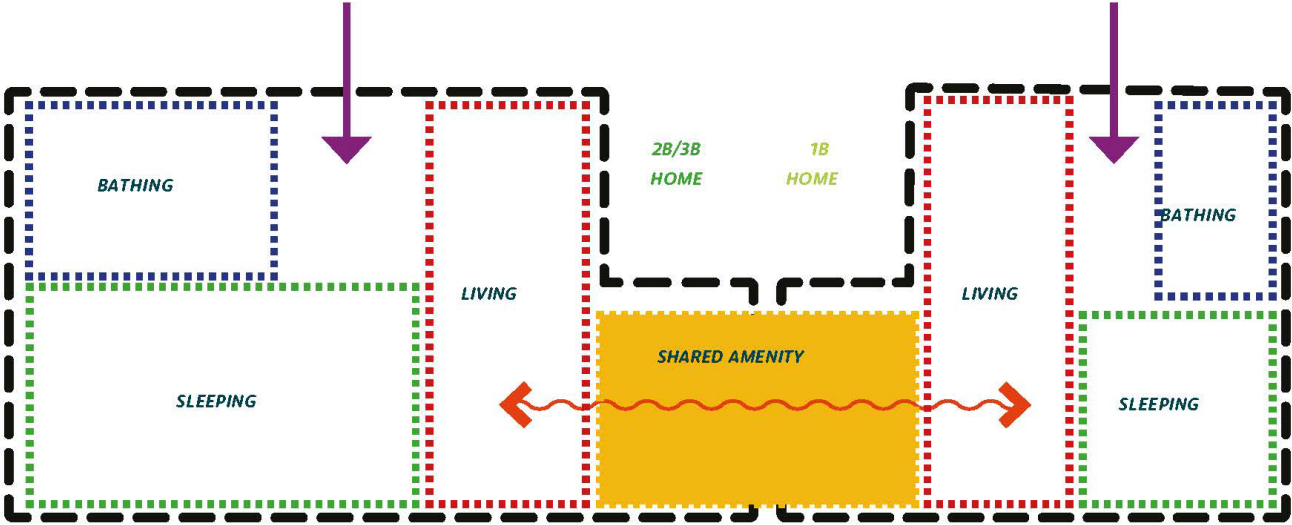

Multi-generational living

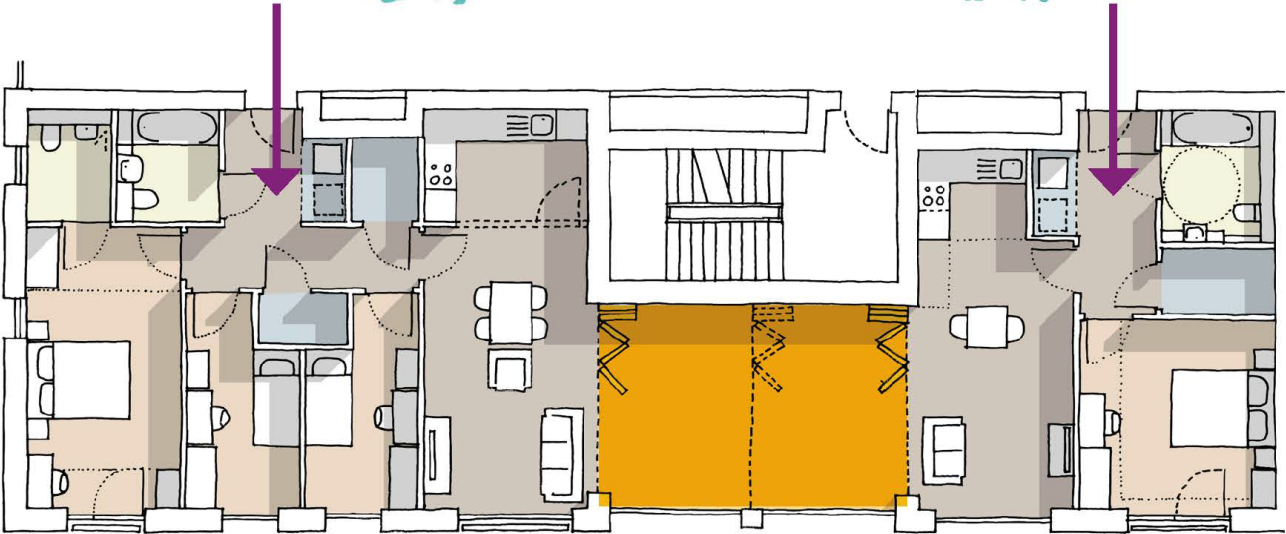

Multi-generational interlinking apartments

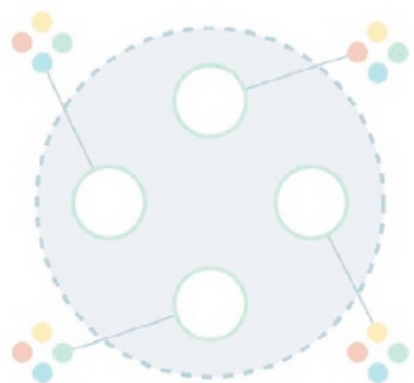

A YOUNG WORKING FAMILY

A DOWNSIZING ELDERLY COUPLE

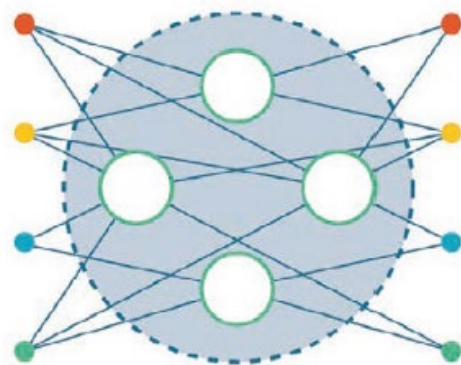

Co-living

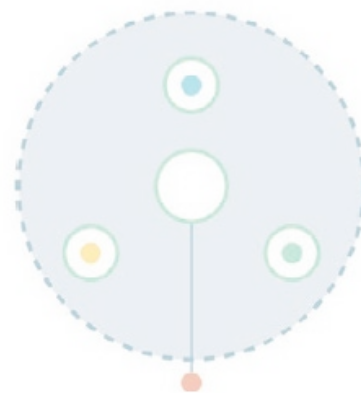

Multi-generational homes

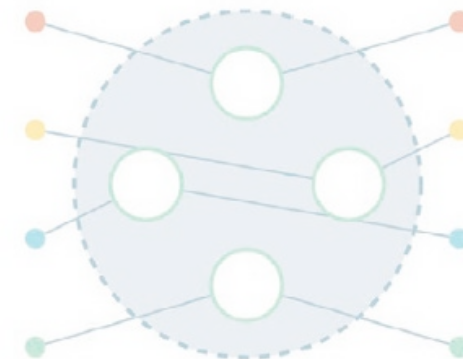

Co-living

Later Living at the heart of the community

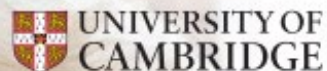

Intergenerational masterplans

Co-living

Cambridge Centre
for Housing &
Planning Research

Is co-living a good choice to support healthy, happy ageing at home?

Summary and Conclusions

Dr Gemma Burgess
lecchpr@hermes.cam.ac.uk
Cambridge Centre for Housing and Planning Research

FIGURE 1 CO-LIVING AND COHOUSING

CO-LIVING

Intergenerational living solutions for older people

- Homeshare schemes
- Housing Association
pairing schemes

COHOUSING

Residential developments
for older people,
community-based

Later living at the heart of the community

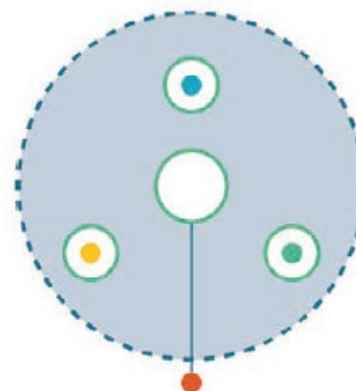

Multi-generational homes

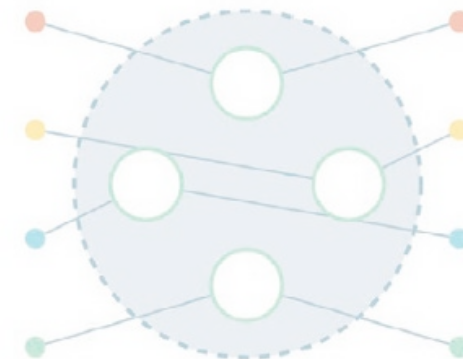

Co-living

Later Living at the heart of the community

Intergenerational masterplans

Quadra, Hackney

Quadra, Hackney

Station Approach, West Byfleet

Station Approach, West Byfleet

flowers

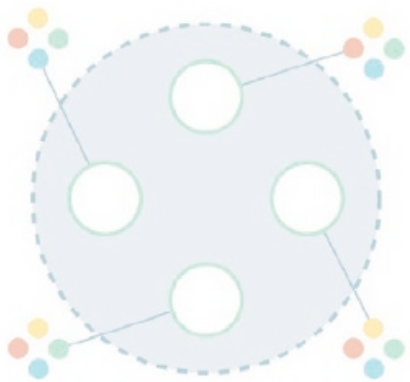

books

bakery

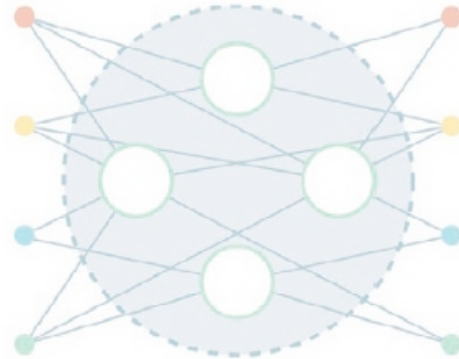

inter

Intergenerational masterplans

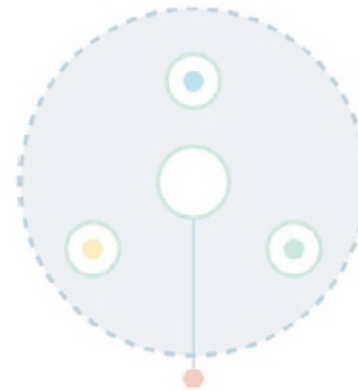

Multi-generational homes

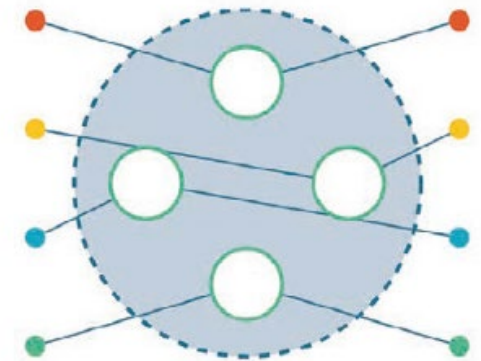

Co-living

Later Living at the heart of the community

Intergenerational masterplans

Lifetime homes +

Ground Floor

First Floor

Lifetime homes +

Ground Floor

First Floor

Lifetime homes +

Detached or semi-detached

Terrace

Intergenerational living at Oakfield

Age in Place Cottages

The Hub

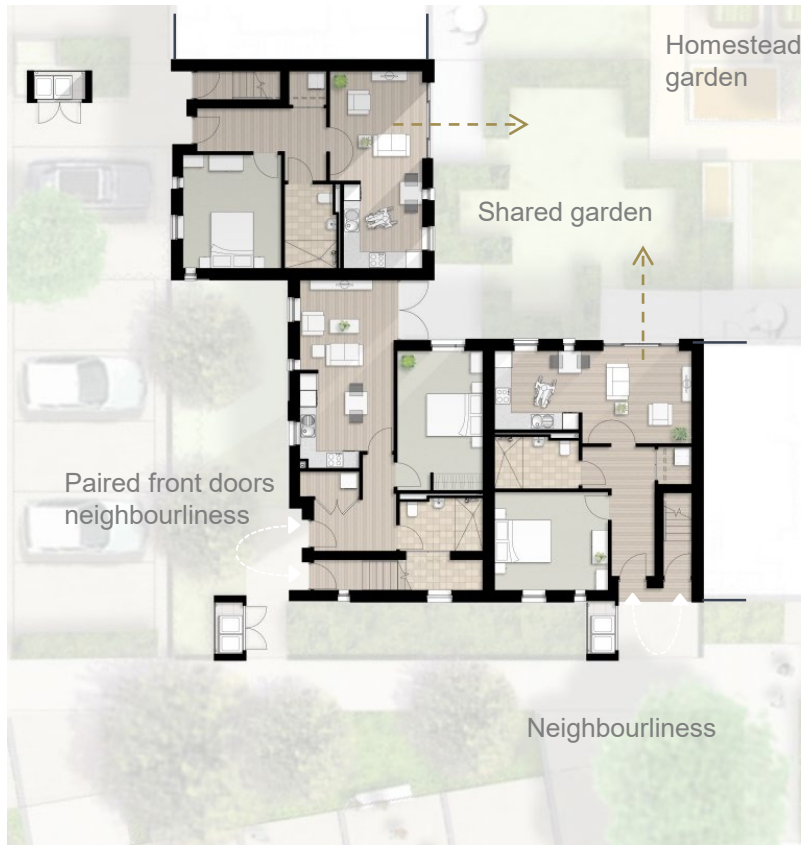

Walk-up Apartments

Co-living – community hub

Intergenerational living at Oakfield

Mixing the Generations: Walk-up Apartments