Every decision about care is a decision about housing

What do we want ?

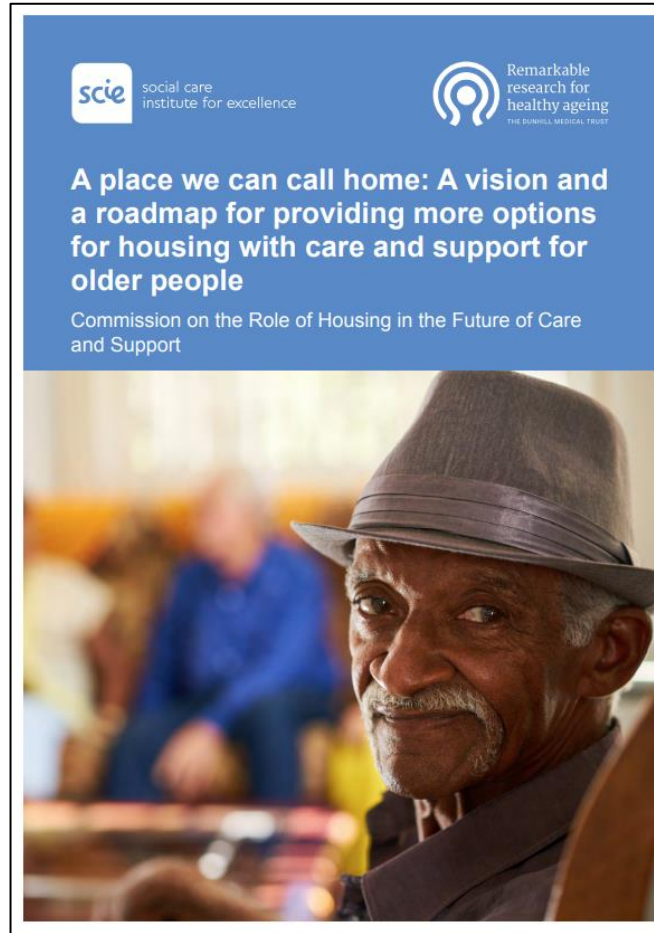

- Independence and the ability to realise potential.
- Choice, control, and the necessary support to live independent lives.
- Good quality and diverse options.
- An adult social care system that is fair, accessible and proportionate.
- Sustainability.

And we want it now

Social Care Futures

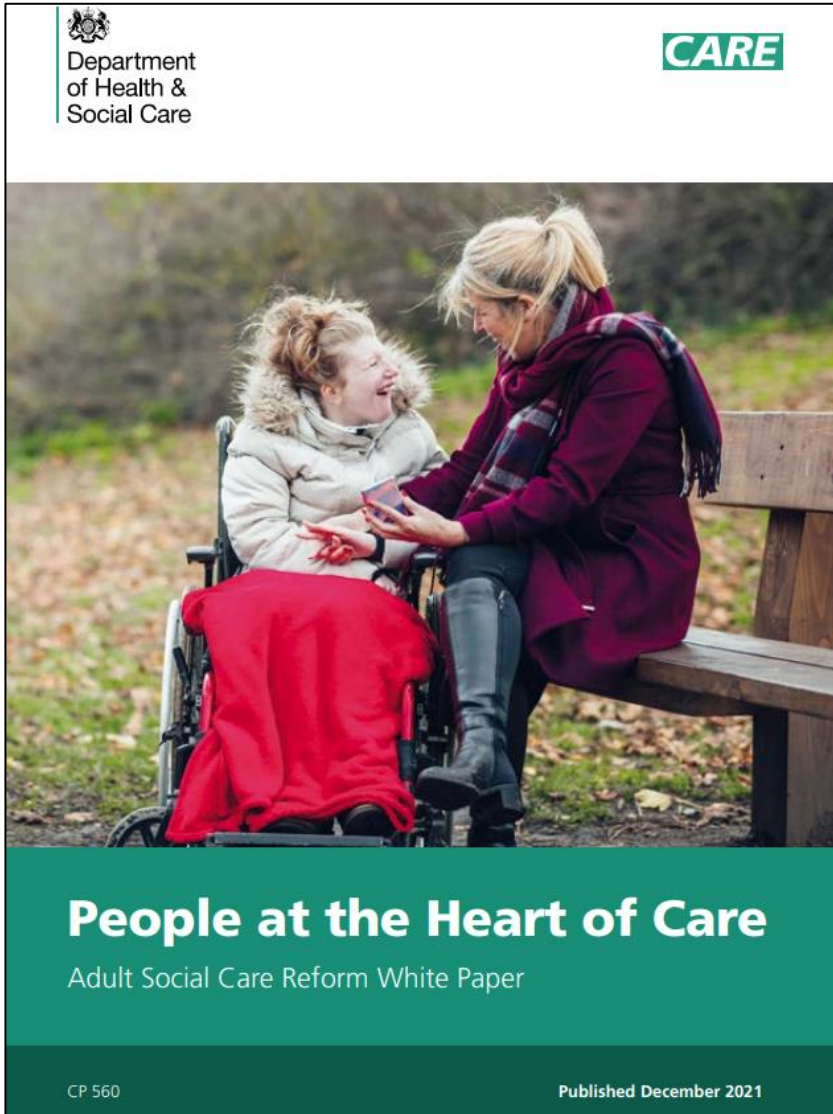

- Promote a new story of change to inspire the wider public to support the future we seek
- Underpin this story with examples of the approaches that exemplify this future and working with others to grow and to spread them
- Challenge and change the present through action at all levels to close the gap between the positive ambition of the Care Act 2014 and reality on the ground
- Develop the practical solutions to move us towards our vision, navigated by people whose experience and insight comes from drawing on care and support to live their lives
- Build a social movement for change

'A place we can call home:

A vision and a roadmap for providing more options for housing with care and support for older people'.

- At least £300 million to integrate housing into local health and care strategies, with a focus on increasing the range of new supported housing options available. This will provide choice of alternative housing and support options.
- A new practical support service to make minor repairs and changes in peoples' homes to help people remain independent and safe in their home, alongside increasing the upper limit of the Disabilities Facilities Grant for home adaptations such as stairlifts, wet rooms and home technologies.

Setting Standards for Retirement Communities

Michael Voges, Executive Director of ARCO said:

“Mr Gove will need to draw on all of his reforming instincts to bring about the radical change needed in UK housing delivery.

We are hopeful that the new Secretary of State will make a clear commitment to increasing provision for our ageing population through innovative solutions such as housing-with-care.
